

The first instrument for orbit.

Project Rhapsody is Symphony Space's orbital media studio. Brands, artists and cultural institutions can create work shaped by the light, motion and physics of orbit.

Nobody has played this before.

A session.
A real master.

Compose a time-locked work around a pass, light condition, city or moment. Each take is authenticated at source, downlinked and archived with provenance.

One creative framework brings each work to life in weeks, not years. Media rights return to their owners, and each work stays protected on its own physically and cryptographically separate network.

OCT 2026

Conversation Opens in New York

APR 2028

First two works fly

Q2 2029

Commercial platform follows

An invitation to the first generation.

Founding client conversations are open.

merry@symphony-space.com